

Dear Hiring Team,

I am a Full Stack Developer with over three years of experience building scalable web applications across frontend and backend technologies. I have worked in fintech, government systems, and software development environments, using tools such as React, Redux, Python, SQLAlchemy, C#, MySQL/PostgreSQL, and Azure.

My background also includes five years as a teaching assistant at the University of Buenos Aires, which strengthened my communication skills and my ability to explain complex ideas clearly. I am proactive, adaptable, and enjoy taking ownership of challenges while continuously improving my technical skills.

I am seeking an opportunity where I can contribute to meaningful projects, grow professionally, and collaborate with a team that values quality and innovation. I would welcome the chance to discuss how my experience and mindset can bring value to your organisation.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Kind regards,

Santiago Locatelli